DECEMBER THEME: AT THE EDGE OF MYSTERY

As the darkening days draw us into winter, they guide us toward contemplation on mystery and hope. Stories of the season invite us to the edge, to the thresholds and doorways of deep questions that have no final answers. Held here in beloved community, in courage, kindness and compassion, we each choose whether and how to open the doors before us, and how to face the awesome unknown that lies beyond.

Dec. 2 Embracing Mystery

with Lindsay Dunkel, Rev. Kevin Tarsa, et al

Our take on mystery - the unknown and unknowable - is central and essential in Unitarian Universalism. How do you, how do we, face what we do not know and the thresholds and doorways that lead to places beyond our sight, our knowledge, our certainty?

Dec. 9 Let the Mystery Be: Everything is Holy Now Rev. Kevin Tarsa

Religious Naturalism offers a this-worldly approach to mystery, awe and unanswerable questions: let the mystery be. How can not knowing the answers be a source of comfort, security and salvation.

Dec. 16 The Sound of Silence Wendy Wernigg, et al

There is powerful value in silence, but discomfort as well. What surfaces in silence can be a mystery that is difficult to face. What is at the root of this discomfort? What are we afraid of and can we befriend the mysteries of our own mind?

Dec. 20 Solstice Celebration - 7 PM Thursday

Solstice is a hope-filled threshold as, year after year, the darkening days begin to turn toward the light. In a cycle as old as time, death and rebirth in the world around us bring hope that invites us to open us to mystery and awe.

Dec. 23 Unwrapping the Inner Gifts of Christmas Rev. Kevin Tarsa

In the heat of the holidays, let's face, even embrace, some of the many holiday emotions - joy, sadness, compassion, and silence - with the help of Tom Owen-Towle's wisdom captured in Unwrapping the Inner Gifts of Christmas.

Dec. 24 Christmas Eve

5:00 PM Each Night a Child is Born is a Holy Night

A joyful collage of carols, songs, stories, candlelight and participation celebrating the joy of community and the miracle of new life at the center of this holiday.

8:00 PM Silent Night, Holy Night

On this 200th anniversary of the song, "Silent Night," candlelight, carols, compassion and joy grace this gentle service steeped in the multi-faceted spirit of the season and the meanings to be found in the Christmas Story..

Dec. 30 Cider Sunday

Anita Wald-Tuttle, with Wendy Wernigg

In this special annual service at the turning of the year, we will review the past year and look to the year to come. The center of the service is an opportunity for all to share brief personal reflections. Gathered in a circle and holding each other in care, we'll remember, imagine, and, yes, share glasses of cider at this threshold to the new year.

Rev. Kevin Tarsa
UUCM Minister

From the Minister

I know that many of you are caring and feeling deeply about those affected by the Camp Fire, and are yourselves now more worried about the possibility of fire closer to home. It is a time to offer extra care and compassion to yourselves and to one another, as well as a time to reach out to be of service.

You may look to the weekly eChalice, Sunday orders of service and Member emails for information about arising ways to help. As we know already, the immediate help will come fast and powerfully. It is the long-term support that will be critical. Right now, you can support members of our sister congregation in Chico by sending donations, with "Camp Fire" in the memo line, to:

UU Fellowship in Chico
1289 Filbert Avenue
Chico, CA 95926

Watch also for invitations to be readying ourselves.

I know that for many of you the fires are but one weight piled on day after day of late, and that you struggle to find hope and joy. Again, this is a time to offer extra care and compassion to yourselves and to one another. This too is a long-term journey, one that we make together and in good company.

All of this unsettledness of mind, body and spirit reminds us of the ever-present uncertainties of life, lifting the veils that allow us to imagine that things are secure most of the time. And so we meet uncertainty anew, face to face.

This month's theme – What does it mean to be a people of mystery? - brings to mind those Magic Eye pictures popular in the 90s. These are pictures, often of repeating patterns, that look simply dizzyingly busy until you soften your gaze, as if to focus slightly behind or through the surface of the picture. If all goes well, and one relaxes just enough, and then focuses just right, suddenly a three-dimensional image rises and/or recedes from the page. It is mind bending, available all the time, but accessible only part of the time, and only to some. Not everyone's eyes can see the images, and kids often get there much more quickly than adults.

As our Soul Matters authors note, mystery is not a problem to be solved, but a reality to be acknowledged and experienced. And goodness knows there is plenty of mystery around us, of both the worrisome and the grand and awesome kinds.

May we heed the current invitations to notice that life is always precious and precarious, to realize that this is and always has been the nature of things, and to know that together, we can move into and learn to navigate uncertainty and mystery, and in so doing, find our way home.

Board of Trustees

Taylor Carey,
President,
UUCM Board of Trustees

Years ago, when I was a young attorney working in the State Department of Education, I was assigned a new case from a class of cases that we all hated. They arose from federal audits of the state-administered, federally-funded Migrant Education program, the program through which the feds provided monetary support to states with high migrant worker populations. In staff meetings, whenever the Chief Counsel needed to assign one of these turkeys, every attorney in the room would try to become invisible.

Because I was relatively new and lacked sufficient seasoning, these mind-pulverizingly complex cases generally landed in the laps of my more experienced colleagues. The simple fact is that it didn't really seem to matter to whom they were assigned. We never won... ever. In fact, none of the states engaged in the migrant education program ever won. The net result was that the states would accept the funding, and expend it in support of their migrant ed. programs. Then, after audit, the feds would demand a substantial portion of their money back for alleged misallocation of the funds. In California the federal claims could reach many tens of millions of dollars.

The situation became so bad that some states banded together to hire specialized outside, private legal counsel at great expense to help them fight the Reagan Administration's confiscatory policies. In California, the Attorney General's office threw up its hands and allowed the Department of Education to take the cases back to defend by itself. That's where I entered the picture. Due to my litigation background while in private practice and general, deer-in-the-headlights inattention to my own peril, I was thrust into the role of canon fodder against the fed's juggernaut.

I knew nothing about the subject. I had no affinity for numbers – my parents were resigned to the belief that I would never learn my times tables. I have the same attention for detail that a cloud has for its individual rain drops. I was assigned four of these nightmares. I did not get a good night's sleep for the next three years.

The only thing I had going for me was a life-long need to consider everything in life from a different perspective. Things are not as they appear on the surface. I enter buildings from the side door, the back door, through back alleys, and through kitchens. Among life's mysteries, the body compensates for disabilities by heightening other senses. The simplest acts require immediate, fluid reinvention and adaptation.

And wonder of wonders, that's how California became the first state in the nation to beat the feds at its own game.

The process involved the state appealing the adverse audit findings by the federal government. This would require extensive research, briefing, and a trip to Washington D.C. to the federal Education Appeals Board, which routinely denied our requests for relief. The state's only recourse was a further appeal to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeal in San Francisco which, like the EAB, would typically send the state packing.

My first two cases were consolidated and I lost them both before the EAB and the Ninth, though a very talented program staff member was able to use an ambiguity in the Court's decision to negotiate a 50% reduction in the amount owed.

I lost the next two EAB decisions too. But, while briefing these matters for the Ninth Circuit, a very dim light began to glow. Not through cleverness, erudition, or brilliance, it suddenly dawned on me that we were all struggling up the wrong stairs. The particulars are so boring that even a brief recitation would put anyone still awake after reading this far, fast asleep. But, the Ninth Circuit bought my argument ... twice. Our victories, coupled with the rising congressional anger against the Reagan Department of Education and its draconian audit practices eventually forced a complete overhaul of the Migrant Ed funding mechanism.

Life "is a riddle, wrapped in a mystery, inside an enigma" (Winston Churchill). Sometimes it is miraculous. Sometimes it is serendipitous. Sometimes it is just weird. The only thing Donald Rumsfeld ever said that made any sense was that we don't know what we don't know. Equally perplexing, however, is that sometimes we don't know what we do know.

Welcoming and Membership Team

Introducing our New Name

By Claire Miller, Chair, Welcoming & Membership Team

To be consistent with the new governance structure and terminology at UUCM, the former "Membership Committee" will now be known as the "Welcoming and Membership Team."

Many of the day to day tasks previously done by this group will remain the same. However, some adjustments will evolve over the near future, to help us better reflect our new UUCM Mission Statement. Would you like to be part of this Team? And part of this evolution? There are several areas that could use your time and talents. In all cases, training and support is provided – as you ease into your new role.

1) Sunday Morning Welcoming Team

These team members are charged with creating a warm, inviting and inclusive environment for everyone before and after Sunday early and/or late services.

Requirements - A friendly nature, and ability to be comfortable talking to someone you don't know. Lots of flexibility in scheduling. This is an ideal starting place for getting involved in the work of UUCM.

2) Social Events: planning, organizing, hosting

Requirements – enjoy working as a team with one or two others to create events. Truly enjoy having fun with others and willing to try new things.

3) Supporting People on the Path to Membership

Requirements – must be a member of UUCM and involved in the life of the community yourself. Moderate level of computer literacy – or willing and able to learn – and your own computer. Good communication, record keeping, and team work with other Welcoming Team members.

4) Supporting Existing Members

Requirements - Be involved in the life of the congregation yourself. Willingness to get to know a wide range of people. Good communication skills, record keeping, and team work with other team members. Minor computer skills.

PATH TO MEMBERSHIP

You may become a member of UUCM at any time during the year. Here are the steps that will take you along that path. If you are interested, or would like more information, please talk to Rev. Kevin or Claire Miller.

Whether you are a member or not, please know that wherever you are in your spiritual journey, you are welcome at all services and most social events and activities.

- Attend one of the "Meet the Minister" events between the two services on the first Sunday of each month
- Let the Welcoming and Membership team know that you are interested. (Talk with Claire Miller, chair, or any of the ushers.)

- Talk with Rev. Kevin about the privileges and responsibilities of membership
- Plan to attend one of the "Small Group Dinners" with Rev. Kevin, someone from Membership Team, and a few other interested new people. These will be casual events – part social, part informational - to help you feel more at home at UUCM. Talk to Claire Miller for details.
- Plan to attend the next "Intro to UU" class -- date to be determined. If you are interested, let Claire or an usher/greeter know, and they can take your name and contact you once it has been scheduled.

Stewardship Committee

Stewardship's Committee Update

By Keith Johnson, Chair, Stewardship Committee

In the midst of the holiday season your Stewardship Committee has much to be thankful for. As of mid- November the total amount pledged for 2018/19 is $206,768. A total of $106,033 has already been received which is 51% of the amount pledged. Great job! Your timely pledges are greatly appreciated. If you have fallen a little behind schedule consider this a friendly reminder. If unforeseen circumstances make it impossible for you to honor your pledge in full, we understand but ask that you contact Rev Kevin or a committee member as soon as possible.

This year's fund raisers are off to a flying start. The Fall Concert and Fall Wine Tasting were fun for all and profitable as well. We earned about $2400 from both events. Next up is the Holiday Bazaar which will be held on December 2nd and December 9th. Please contact Mary Ann Currington or Janet Bullock if you have items to donate. It is never too early to begin thinking about the UUCM Auction which is scheduled for February 16. The Auction is our biggest fund raiser. What would you like to donate to make this the most successful ever?

So far we have hosted seven Cottage Meetings with nine more scheduled from December through February. If you have not already attended a meeting, please watch for your invitation. It is our hope that everyone will be able to attend a Cottage Meeting. They are fun, informal, and a great opportunity to meet and connect with other UUCM members. When you receive your invitation please respond promptly, even if you must send your regrets, in order for us to facilitate attendance at each meeting. Thank you in advance for this courtesy. Be well and safe during this holiday season.

Caring Team

Our Annual Giving Tree is in the Entry!

By Gwen Eymann, Acting Chair, Caring Team

Please note: Gwen will be serving as acting Chair of the Caring Team until Anne Lyon is ready to resume her position. We all hope she is back with us soon.

The Caring Team kicked off the Christmas Season with UUCM's annual Giving Tree for families from Women of Worth. We have selected several families from our community who are in need. With the wonderful generosity from our UUCM community, we can all help to make their Christmas special. Please consider selecting a tag from the tree and giving a gift of love to someone less fortunate.

As always, we continue to monitor the congregation for folks who might need a hand, a ride, a meal, or a listening ear. Our strength as a congregation is reflected in the wonderful people who have stood up and offered to help in so many ways. If you know someone who could use help and support, please let us know.

If you are drawn to support the well being of others through care and kind attention, please contact me. We meet the first Tuesday of every month at 4:00 PM at UUCM, and I'd be glad to speak with you about the possibilities. Contact: Anne Lyon, (619) 933-1618, Gwen Eymann (530) 274-7965, or caring@uugrassvalley.org

Wishing you all a Holiday Season full of meaning and love.

Nominating Committee

Fostering Leadership Development

By Lin Jovanovic, Carmen Riley, and Linda Siska
Nominating Committee Members

Greetings from your new Nominating Committee, affectionately known as Nom Com. We've been meeting this fall, along with Rev. Kevin, to plot our course for the coming year. Given the responsibilities that accompany lay leadership, we've been exploring how we might foster more specific leadership development. Lay leaders give generously of their time and talent, so we want to ensure that they understand the duties involved, and that they receive the support and training that they need to feel secure in their work.

Starting in January, we will be sharing descriptions of the positions included in the Board of Trustees, as well as actively reaching out to our beloved UUCM congregation to help people make informed decisions about serving in leadership roles. Potential leaders will be advised as to trainings offered in the PCD and will be informed of online classes and webinars designed to fit busy lives. For now, please take some time to consider your strengths, your interests, your gifts, and how you might personally benefit from developing your leadership potential. As always, feel free to talk with those of us on Nom Com about any questions you might have or any ways you might feel called to serve here at UUCM.

Building and Grounds

Thanks to November's Volunteers

By Wally Holtan, Chair, Building and Grounds Team

I would like to thank Keith Johnson, Joel and Theresa Houtman, George Dunstan, Connie Wright, Paul Elias, Gwen Eymann and Bob Packard, a new volunteer, for their hard work last Saturday. We were able to complete a number of projects, but there are always some that end up being put off depending on our volunteer numbers.

Saturday was winterizing yard work and normal outdoor yard maintenance. Inside we were able to clean the chairs and start preparing for the new television that will be used in the sanctuary. Also, if you notice red lettered exit signs over the exit doors, they are new because the old ones were no longer working. Let us hope we will never need them.

Next month our work day falls on the 15th of December. I hope that we will continue to see new volunteers. Keeping up with the yard work and inside maintenance is rewarding but hard work. If you have an extra three hours on the third Saturday of the month, we can always use your help. There are always projects and cleaning that we are unable to get to in a given month. So hopefully we will see you next month or in the new year. In the meantime, please enjoy your holidays!

For Families

By Lindsay Dunckel, Co-Chair, Family Ministry

Our first UUCM family movie night took place on Friday, November 16 with a showing of “Coco” which fit with the monthly theme of memory. Eighteen people of all ages gathered to watch in the sanctuary while munching on popcorn and other goodies. It was such fun, we’ve decided to make it a regular feature. Keep an eye out for future announcements of movie nights.

We launched the use of “While I am Listening” bags for our young people at our full-community service on November 3 - and got thumbs up reviews from the kids, who enjoyed being able to keep their hands busy while their ears listened. The youngest among us are experiencing worship, connecting them to what adults do at church and learning the rituals and music that tie us to UUs everywhere. The bags will be available at all full-community services.

Families gathered on November 30 to discuss what it might look like for the UUCM community to support families - we'll be sharing the ideas generated at the gathering in the next Mt. Chalice.

The following resources help us as we engage with the question: “What does it mean to be a family of Mystery?”:

Adult RE Continues Momentum

By Lesley Champlin, Adult RE Team Member

We're very excited at the turnout and positive responses to the Adult RE sessions to date!

- Rev. Karyn Packard and Elizabeth Fries led an audience of 44 people through the "5 Wishes – Prepare your Advanced Health Care Directive. There was lots of opportunity to ask questions, and participants received several accompanying documents/resources that are applicable in our area.
- Gail Johnson-Vaughan's course, "From Troubling to Terrific," about how to have effective "crucial conversations" is going really well: everyone is very engaged and putting what they are learning immediately to work in our communication-challenged time.
- Many thanks to Elizabeth Fries, Anita Wald-Tuttle, and Marilyn Young for the well-received Aging Workshop; they will be back on the second Saturday in January with a new topic.
- Our appreciation also to Rev. Leisa Huyck who conducted a thoughtful follow-up workshop to her sermon "Not the Opposite of Life." We continue to be grateful for the deep and wide experiences our community has and their willingness to share them.

As our name says, Adult RE is about exploring; we aim to present you with spiritual and practical, thought-provoking and possibly life-changing information you can use on your journey.

If you have questions or want further details, please send them by email to our new adult RE address:
AdultRE@ugrassvalley.org.

PLEASE NOTE:

*RE offerings with an * are either a part of a series of sessions, or are full, and are not accepting new attendees. Please contact the specific course coordinator to find out if and when the course may be offered again.*

Our Spiritual Practices Samplers are held the second Sunday of each month, after the Soup Potluck, from 1:30-2:30. They are designed to offer a hands-on introduction to various spiritual practices that members and friends find meaningful and sustaining.

This month we'll practice Singing Meditation - the gentle art of chanting/singing alternating with meditative silence. This is meant for all. Songs will be simple and repetitive, taught as we go. Let your breathing and the vibrations of your voice and body guide you to a connected, centered place.

December Soul Matters Reflections

FROM THE SOUL MATTERS ORGANIZATION

What does it mean to be a people of ... MYSTERY?

Unitarian Universalists love puzzles. We proudly announce that we are the religion that loves questions and questioning. Or to put it another way, we love figuring out life's mysteries.

But what if mystery isn't just something to figure out? What if it's also something to be listened to? This is the lesser recognized call of our faith. Being a people of mystery isn't just about engaging life as a marvelous puzzle. It's also about allowing yourself to be spoken to by life's wonder. One of the most elegant articulations of this comes from the poet Mary Oliver, a much-loved poet of Unitarian Universalists. In her poem, Wild Geese, she writes,

*Whoever you are, no matter how lonely,
the world offers itself to your imagination, calls to you like the wild geese, harsh and exciting—over and over announcing your place in the family of things.*

Oliver's call to listen for life's announcements implies a letting go. Mystery is funny this way. You can't make it speak. Indeed the more you pursue the answers to life's mysteries; the more distant they become. If we want mystery to speak, it seems we have to be willing to be caught off guard. UU humanist minister and poet, David Breeden, captures this beautifully when he writes,

*I dug and dug
Deeper into the earth
Looking for blue heaven
Choking always
On piles of dust rising
Then once
At midnight
I slipped
And fell into the sky*

Slipping, and then falling into the sky. Is there a better way to describe our dance with mystery? Isn't this what all the great mystics have been trying to tell us from the start? That sitting at the heart of mystery is not the unknown, but unity. We fall into mystery and it falls into us. Its voice is one that whispers, "I am you and you are me." Mystery doesn't put up barriers; it dissolves them. Haven't all of us faced the wonder and mystery of a sunset, the stars, a baby's first cry or a lover's wet kiss and thought to ourselves, "Who I am does not end at the barrier of my skin"?

So friends, this month, let's allow ourselves to fall in and open up. So many opportunities to slip into the sky and let it slip into us. Let's put down all the puzzling and the figuring out. Just long enough to notice that life isn't simply trying to stump us. It's also trying to connect with us.
